AQUILA GAPS REVISION 2020

If you can spend some time revising the meaning of the terminology below it will help you with both your writing and in GAPS lessons. The best way to remember the different terms is to practise it in your writing.
Nouns
Term	Definition
Noun	A noun is a 'naming' word: a word used for naming an animal, a person, a place or a thing.
Proper noun	This is a noun used to name particular people and places: Jim, Betty, London... – and some 'times': Monday, April, Easter... It always begins with a capital letter.
Common noun	A common noun is a noun that is used to name everyday things: cars, toothbrushes, trees,... – and kinds of people: man, woman, child ... Do not start with capital letters (unless at beginning of a sentence)
Collective noun	This is a noun that describes a group or collection of people or things: army, bunch, team, swarm... Do not start with capital letters (unless at beginning of a sentence)
Abstract noun	An abstract noun describes things that cannot actually be seen, heard, smelt, felt or tasted: sleep, honesty, boredom, freedom, power ... Do not start with capital letters (unless at beginning of a sentence)
Noun Phrases	The noun is the main word in the phrase and other words give information about it
Adjectives
Term	Definition
Adjective	An adjective is a 'describing' word: it is a word used to describe (or tell you more about) a noun. Example: The burglar was wearing a black jacket, a furry hat and a large mask over his face. (The words in bold tell us more about the noun that follows) An adjective usually comes before a noun but sometimes it can be separated from its noun and come afterwards (e.g.: Ben looked frightened; the dog was very fierce)
Verbs
Term	Definition
Verb	A verb is a word, or a group of words, that tells you what a person or thing is being or doing. It is often called a 'doing' word: e.g. running, eating, sitting. All sentences have a subject and a verb. The subject is the person or thing doing the action: Example: Cats purr (Cats is the subject and purr is the verb)
Auxiliary verb	A verb is often made up of more than one word. The actual verb-word is helped out by parts of the special verbs: the verb to be and the verb to have. These 'helping' verbs are called auxiliary verbs and can help us to form tenses. Auxiliary verbs for 'to be' include: am, are, is, was, were, Auxiliary verbs for 'to have' include: have, had, hasn't, has, will have, will not have. Examples: I have arrived ('arrived' is the main verb and 'have' is the auxiliary verb) We are waiting ('waiting' is the main verb and 'are' is the auxiliary verb)
Modal verb	A verb showing a possibility e.g. will,would,should,could,may,can, shall Modal adverbs add possibility to the modal verb e.g. probably, definitely, possibly and surely.

Adverbs
Term	Definition
Adverb	An adverb tells you more about the verb (it 'adds' to the verb). It nearly always answers the questions: How? When? Where? or Why? Most adverbs in English end in –ly and come from adjectives: E.g. *soft – softly; slow – slowly.
Adverb or Adjective?	Some words can be either adverbs or adjectives depending on what they do in a sentence, e.g. fast, hard, late. If they answer the questions: How? When? Where? or Why? – they are adverbs. If they answer the question: "What is it like?" - they are adjectives, and will be telling you more about a specific noun. Examples: Life is hard. (adjective) Kim works hard. (adverb) The train arrived early. (adverb) I took an early train. (adjective)
Pronouns
Term	Definition
Pronoun	Sometimes you refer to a person or a thing not by its actual name, but by another word which stands for it. The word you use to stand for a noun is called a pronoun (which means 'for a noun') We use pronouns so that we do not have to repeat the same nouns over again. Have a look at the following sentence: When Barnaby stroked the cat and listened to the cat purring softly, Barnaby felt calm and peaceful. Compare it with the same sentence where some of the nouns have been replaced by pronouns: When Barnaby stroked the cat and listened to it purring softly, he felt calm and peaceful.
Singular pronouns	Singular pronouns are used to refer to one person or thing. E.g.: *I, you, me, he, she, it, you, him, her, mine, yours, his, hers, its
Plural pronouns	Plural pronouns are used to refer to more than one person or thing. E.g.: *we, they, us, them, ours, yours, theirs
Relative Pronouns	A relative pronoun refers to a person,animal placve or thing e.g. who, which, that e.g. The table, which was sturdy, gave way.
Other word classes
Term	Definition
Prepositions	Prepositions are words which show the relationship of one thing to another in terms of position. Examples: Tom jumped over the cat. The monkey is in the tree. These words tell you where one thing is in relation to something else. Other examples of prepositions include: up, across, into, past, under, below, above … Prepositional phrases will include a preposition e.g. in the tree.
Determiner	Determiners are used with nouns to clarify the noun and include articles e.g. the , an, a

Article	An article is always used with and gives some information about a noun. There are three articles: a, an and the
	Examples: the chair; a table; an elephant
	*There is sometimes confusion about whether to use a or an. The sound of a word's first letter helps us to know which to use: If a word begins with a vowel sound, you should use an; if a word begins with a consonant sound, you should use a.

Features of sentences/Types of sentences
Term	Definition
Clause	A clause is a group of words which does contain a verb; it is part of a sentence. There are two kinds of clauses: 1. A main clause (makes sense on its own) e.g.: Sue bought a new dress. 2. A subordinate clause (does not make sense on its own; it depends on the main clause for its meaning) E.g.: Sue bought a new dress when she went shopping. *'when she went shopping' is the subordinate clause as it would not make sense without the main clause.
Phrase	A phrase is a group of words which does not make complete sense on its own and does not contain a verb; it is not a complete sentence: e.g.: up the mountain
Conjunctions	Conjunctions join together words, phrases, clauses and sentences. They help us to create compound sentences by joining two main clauses together. E.g.: She went to the shops. She bought a box of chocolates. We can use a conjunction to join these sentences together: She went to the shops and bought a box of chocolates. Other connectives (conjunctions) include: but, as, so, or ...
Subordinating Conjunctions and Clauses	Subordinating conjunctions link a main (independent) clause with a subordinate (dependent) clause (a clause which does not make sense on its own).Example: When we got home, we were hungry. We were hungry because we hadn't eaten all day. Other subordinating connectives include: if, while, after, until, before , although...
Co-ordinating Conjunctions	Link towo words or phrases as an equal pair e.g. Kylie is young but she can kick the ball hard. Other co-ordinating conjunctions include for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so
Relative Clause	Relative clauses add information to sentences by using a relative pronoun such as who, that or which e.g. The girl, who was wearing a red dress, enjoyed the dance.
Statements (also called declarative sentence)	These are sentences which state facts. e.g.: It is hot. The butter is in the fridge.
Question (Interrogative sentence)	Interrogative sentences (questions) are sentences which ask for an answer. e.g.: Are you hot? Where is the butter?
Command (also called imperative sentence)	These are sentences which give orders or requests. e.g.: Play the movie.Give me a dinosaur for my birthday.
Exclamation (also called exclamatory sentence)	Exclamatory sentences (exclamations) are sentences which express a strong feeling of emotion. e.g.: My goodness, it's hot! I absolutely love this movie!
Active/Passive

Subject	The subject of a verb is normally the noun, noun phrase or pronoun that is usually before the verb in a sentence.
Object	The subject of a verb is normally the noun, noun phrase or pronoun that is usually after the verb in a sentence.
Active	The subject acts upon the object e.g. The school arranged a visit.
Passive	The subject is acted upon by the object e.g. The visit was arranged by the school (note the word 'by' is often used in a passive sentence).

Vocabulary
Synonyms	Two words that have the same meaning e.g. old and elderly
Antonyms	Two words that have opposite meanings e.g. hot and cold, dark and light
Prefixes	A prefix is added at the beginning of the a word to make another word e.g. overtake, disappear
Suffixes	A suffix is added at the beginning of the a word to make another word e.g. fearless, hurtful.
