Friday 19th December 2025

Dear Parents and Carers,

We are finally at the end of term and I would like to say a huge well done to all the children in school. They have worked incredibly hard over the last 14 weeks and made fantastic progress in their learning. Their curiosity and love of learning is genuinely amazing and they have achieved so much already this year.

I would also like to extend my thanks to you as parents for being so supportive of our school and for the contribution you make to ensure our school community is such a warm and welcoming place to be.

On a personal note, can I say thank you to all the parents and carers for their very generous gifts. Although very unnecessary, they are very much appreciated.

I am already looking forward to the spring term and to seeing you all again for what promises to be another busy and enjoyable term.

I wish you all an enjoyable Christmas and a peaceful New Year.

Best wishes,

Mr Comer, Headteacher

Manland Values Award

Kleio comes into school everyday with an enormous smile and greets her friends warmly. She gets along with everyone and will help and encourage other members of the class when needed. She settles quickly, working with others to complete the morning work. Her learning behaviours are phenomenal and she is a role model.

It has been wonderful to watch her confidence grow with her reading and phonics this term, she is going from strength to strength. She knows her sounds, is able to segment and blend and is reading books with short sentences. We are equally impressed with her writing. We know that she will continue to build on her achievements as she continues through the school.

Manland Values Award

Stanley is a good friend to those around him. He is fair and honest and always quick to offer a helping hand to both staff and children.

Stanley has a passion for learning and we have seen this recently in the riddle he wrote about space. Stanley also researched and wrote a fantastic poem about a Minotaur beetle when learning about myths! Stanley has a wealth of knowledge about science and he shares this with his classmates. His curiosity sparks thoughtful questions, his enthusiasm inspires classmates, and his eagerness to share what he knows enriches everyone's learning experience.

By contributing ideas, exploring new concepts, and encouraging a love of discovery, Stanley helps make school a more exciting and engaging place for all. Stay curious, Stanley! You are an inspiration to us all!

Victoria Collins MP visit

Last week, our local MP - Victoria Collins - visited our school! Victoria was greeted by Anna and Sammy (our Prime Minister and Deputy Prime Minister) who conducted a tour of Manland. Victoria met with our Pupil Parliament, who wanted to raise some local issues: road safety at home times and rubbish collection along Sauncey Avenue. Having consulted their classes, our class MPs expressed their opinions articulately and have agreed to write to Victoria to press their concerns further. This was followed by a whole-school assembly, during which Victoria shared a 'day in the life' as an MP and held a Q&A. Children asked thoughtful questions such as:

- What's the hardest thing about being an MP?
- Why did you want to become an MP?
- How do you become an MP?

As always, children represented our school excellently - we're extremely proud of our MPs!

Spotlight on Design and Technology

The Year 6s rounded off their D&T project by making some amazing burgers on Monday 15th December! With some expert tips and advice from a top London Chef, the children became 'chief choppers' as they created their own salad before making their hamburger patties to accompany it. Once the cooking had been done (and after the very valuable lesson of how to clear up!), the children grabbed their rolls as well as condiments to sit down and devour their lunch. A highly successful, enjoyable and tasty morning! One that has prepared the children just in time for Christmas day (both helping and clearing up!!!).

A huge thanks to our Chef, Mrs Read and Ms Chan for all their help during the morning!

Safeguarding

At National Online Safety, we believe in empowering parents, carers and trusted adults with the information to hold an informed conversation about online safety with their children, ahead of the festive season. This guide focuses on one issue of many which we believe trusted adults should be aware of. ### What Parents & Carers Need to Know about SETTING UP NEW DEVICES FOR CHILDREN

At Christmas, millions of lucky children will be excitedly ripping the wrapping off new phones, tablets, computers or consoles. However, in the rush to let young ones enjoy their shiny gadgets, many parents neglect to set these devices up safely – increasing the chances of children going online and stumbling across adult content, making expensive downloads or installing unsuitable apps. A little time configuring the device properly can save a lot of anguish later. Here are our top tips to ensure that a dream gift on Christmas morning doesn't turn into a nightmare by New Year.

PASSCODES FOR IPHONE/IPAD

If your child's getting their own iPhone or iPad, you can set parental controls that limit screen time, prevent them from accessing inappropriate content or download expensive apps. Once the device is set up, go to the Settings app and tap Screen Time, then select Use Screen Time Passcode and enter a passcode. Keep it to yourself, so your child can't switch the protection off.

SCREEN TIME SETTINGS ON IPHONE/IPAD

Once you've set a Screen Time Passcode, you can adjust various safety settings. You could, for example, only allow communication with people from the Contact app, place restrictions on App Store purchases and apply age limits to movies, music and web content. There are many more protective options available within the Screen Time settings section.

FAMILY LINK FOR ANDROID

Parents can manage Android phones and tablets, as well as Google Chromebooks, through Google's Family Link app. This allows parents to maintain independence (and their own Google account) but lets parents monitor which apps are being used, set limits on content and ensure that parental permission is required to install apps. Look for Family Link in the Google Play Store.

ADD A CHILD TO FAMILY LINK

The easiest way to add a child's device to Family Link is to set it up with its own Google account. It's a good idea to create this before they use their new device. Once they've signed in and they're logged in, open the Family Link app on your phone, press '+' in the top right and add a new family member using their Google account details. Then follow the on-screen instructions.

PLAYSTATION PARENTAL CONTROLS

With parental controls for the PS5, you'll need a PlayStation Network account (as the 'family manager') and the child will need their own account, which they should sign in with on the console. All their controls can be set up in advance, so you might want to do it before the big day. Go to PlayStation.com and search 'family account' for instructions.

FAMILY SHARING ON A MAC

Families using a Mac get similar controls as on a iPhone and iPad user. Again, if you're setting up a Mac for a child, make yourself the main admin and add them as a user. This is handled through Apple's Family Sharing service, which not only allows you to put controls on child accounts but share apps and other purchases with them too. Search 'family sharing' at <https://support.apple.com>.

DISCUSS IT WITH YOUR CHILD

If you're planning to implement any kind of restriction or protection settings on your child's new device, we'd recommend having a discussion with your young one first about what these controls do, and what they are for. If you try to impose parental controls surreptitiously or with no advance warning, don't be surprised if your child tries to find a way around them.

SET AN ADMIN ON PCS

On Windows PCs and laptops, it's important not to let your child share a general user account or be the main admin on the device. If you're booting up a new family PC or a child's own device, make sure you change your account details and you'll become the admin by default. Then set up children with their own separate account: Settings > Accounts > Family & Other Users > Add Other User.

SET WINDOWS LIMITS

Once your child's account has been created, a parent admin can go back into the Family & Other Users menu and apply limits to it. These include restricting screen time, the type of games that can be played, what can be installed, web filters and more. Microsoft also includes reporting tools which, for example, can email you with a weekly summary of your child's activity on the device.

TREAT AN XBOX LIKE A PC

The same control settings you use for a PC can be used to apply parental controls on an Xbox. Again, once your child is signed into the box with their own account, you can then administer controls over their activity from a PC or web browser. Microsoft's dashboard allows you to manage voice communication through the console, so you can limit who can contact your child, for example.

INSTALL XBOX FAMILY SETTINGS

If you don't have a PC, but your child does have an Xbox, it might be easier to use the Xbox Family Settings app for iPhone or Android. Here, you can restrict content and game time (particularly handy if the console is in a bedroom), restrict communication and monitor the type of game being played. There's also a feature where you can allocate spending money for games or in-game purchases.

STAY VIGILANT

It's important to remember that no parental controls or methods is 100% foolproof. Nobody will ever invent flawless filters or parental controls – not least because what's unacceptable to some parents is perfectly acceptable to others. So although devices' parental controls will help to keep your child safe online, they work best side by side with good old-fashioned parental vigilance.
